THEIR PUNISHMENTS.

Sentences Passed by Hon. Justice Crease in the Assize Court This Morning.

Various Terms of Imprisonment Prescribed for Offenders —Morrison Fined.

The Assize Court room was well filled when Mr. Justice Crease took his place on the bench this morning for the purpose of passing sentence on those convicted at the assizes just over. Some were found guilt as much as took weeks ago, and have since been on the anxious seat waiting to hear the length of their sentences. In nearly all the cases there were some extenuating circumstances calling for the mercy of the court and they were not overlooked.

Robert Irving and John Silvia, convicted of horse stealing, were first brought in. In reply to his lordship's question as to what they had to say why the sentence of the court should not be passed upon them, Irving said: "I had no intention of stealing that horse. I thought it belonged to an uncle of Silvia." Silvia had nothing to say. His lordship then said: "The jury have said a great deal for you in bringing in their verdict with a strong recommendation to mercy, and I intend to follow out their suggestion. In one case a horse's leg was broken, and this must not be overlooked. The sentence of the court is that you both be imprisoned for six months without hard labor, the time to commence to run from your imprisonment in February." His lordship added that if they were grown men and knew the full effect of their actions the sentence would have been much more severe. He did not hope the boys would take encouragement from the lightness of the sentence.

John Dutton and Fred Gilmore were next. They were convicted of having property in their possession stolen from the Bay View saloon. Dutton said: "I only ask for the leniency of the court; they found me guilty." Gilmore said the same. His lordship told them he was sorry to see them in their present position, and sentenced them to a year each. Dutton asked if the time they had already put in would count, and he was told that it would. Dutton had gained his point and went out looking as though he thought he had done pretty well.

James Hailey was next introduced. He had nothing to say. The court told him he was convicted of burglary and stealing, and although the value of the property stolen was very little, yet burglary was a serious offence and one which often entailed shooting and murder in connection with it. Two years in the penitentiary was the sentence. Mr. Belyea for the prisoner asked that the exhibits be impounded, as they were trying to obtain a new trial, at which, if granted, the $1.15 and the tooth-picks now in court would be needed. Their value was trifling, and the owner would not be seriously inconvenienced by their remaining in court. A. G. Smith, D. A. D., opposed the application, but his lordship made the order as asked.

Harold Redgrave, convicted of wounding John Barr at Donald, then came in. Mr. W. J. Taylor, for the prisoner, said: "I have nothing to say why sentence should not be passed, but I have something to say tending to show why leniency should be exercised. The prisoner's character was good, and the fact that he had for a long time performed the duties of a constable in a wild country, where he was in a way of using firearms without any previous offence, negatived the suspicion of intent in this present case. Besides, he has a wife and several children depending on him."

Mr. Smith said the prisoner's character was good and he was an efficient officer. The crown did not press for a heavy sentence.

His lordship reminded the prisoner that it was only the mercy of providence that saved him from being indicted for murder, as the victim of the bullet narrowly missed death. Six months' imprisonment from the commencement of the assizes was the sentence.

Harry Walker and Donald Irving, guilty of setting fire to Judge Drake's barn and hay-stack, now came in. Mr. Fell, for Irving, urged the prisoner's former good conduct. His mother is a widow with a family, and depends for a living on keeping milch cows and selling milk, in which pursuit the services of the boy were indispensable. To continue the boy in jail would tend to make him a criminal rather than a useful member of society.

Mr. Irving followed on behalf of Harry Walker, who, he said, was not yet fourteen years of age, and before he could be convicted the law required that there should be an evil discretion present and proved affirmatively. In this province there was no place where boys could be imprisoned and trained properly, and he asked the court not to send his client to prison with hardened criminals.

His lordship said the law must be vindicated; still the observations of learned counsel, coming from such men, must influence him. Too many offences are now committed by boys which are not larks at all. How few boys would go astray if their fathers and mothers looked after them in their homes and houses! He sentenced them to one month each in the provincial juvenile reformatory.

Mr. Taylor asked for a suspension of sentence as to Walker pending an appeal to quash the conviction. It was granted.

Dr. Morrison came in last. His was the case for which the crowd was waiting, and his sentence was anxiously waited. He was fined $400 and ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution, fixed at $450.

Mr. Helmcken spoke for the doctor. He said the prisoner was a member of an honorable and learned profession, and, so far as he was aware, nothing had ever been brought against him as to his professional standing. He thought the infliction of a moderate fine would answer the purpose.

The doctor, in answer to his lordship's question as to whether he wished to add anything to what his counsel had already said, answered:

"Nothing, my lord, only that I am not guilty."

His lordship said: "The jury have found you guilty, and with their verdict I entirely concur. The object of the law against libel is to prevent men taking the law into their own hands, than which nothing is more prone to provoke breaches of the peace. I do not like the idea of putting in prison a man of your profession, although the law knows no distinction of race, creed or color, but your imprisonment might deprive some of the benefit of your professional skill. I have hit on another means. You have cost the prosecution and the country a lot of money, and I fine you $400 and the costs of the prosecution."

HIS SEAT VACATED.

Henry Corby, M. P., Disqualified—Mr. Foster in Poor Health.

Ottawa, June 22.—Minister Foster is in very poor health, and is rusticating one hundred miles up the Gatineau.

Disclosures were made last evening that the government had purchased from Henry Corby, M. P. for West Hastings, $4,500 worth of non-potable spirits. This is considered a violation of the independence of parliament act. When the house met to-day Mr. Corby resigned his seat in consequence of the disclosures. He was cheered on both sides of the house and immediately left his seat. Mr. Corby is personally popular among the members on both sides of politics.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Republicans Abandon Hope of Defeating the Tariff Bill.

Hazleton, Pa., June 22.—Residents in this vicinity are much disturbed over the announcement that a band of 1,800 coke men, who, Kelly's army, Coxey, Fouke, are to camp on the island this summer.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The will of ex-Congressman Bayne was filed today. After making a few bequests the residue is devised to the widow and heirs.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—It is stated that the Republicans have now abandoned any hope of defeating the tariff bill, which will pass by a majority of five or six.

Harrisburg, June 22.—A telegram received by the governor announces the arrival of troops at Punxsutawney this morning.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The house is considering the anti-option bill. The amendment including flour on the list of articles that may not be dealt in under the bill was agreed to by 98 to 33.

Monticello, June 22.—Mrs. Halliday was to-day sentenced to be electrocuted during the week beginning August 6th.

Shenandoah, O., June 22.—The miners returned to work today.

Taylorville, Ill., June 22.—The Taylorville Coal company fixed a satisfactory scale of wages yesterday. The miners' union decided to resume work to-day.

New York, June 22.—Erastus Wiman was depressed to-day. He said he did not care to comment on the Dun interview in Montreal yesterday.

Hingham, Mass., June 22.—Arrangements have been made to start the Hingham cordage works, employing a hundred people.

Mount Vernon, June 22.—The United Collieries company has posted notices at the collieries that they will start on Monday at fifty cents a ton. This caused much excitement because the company had declared their intention not to pay more than forty cents.

CABLE NEWS.

Emperor William Sails on his Annual Cruise—London Gossip.

London, June 22.—The Duke of Devonshire, chancellor of the University of Cambridge, presided over to-day's session of the international University Extension congress. The relation of the financial side of the movement to the state and local authorities was exhaustively discussed.

The Emperor William sailed from Kiel to-day on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern en route for his visit to England. He was accompanied by Herr Hulzen, manager of the Royal theatre, Wiesbaden, who will be the special agent of the emperor on the trip. The manager is an expert card magician, and the emperor takes considerable pleasure in witnessing the performance of his feats. The yacht will stop at The Hague and the emperor will pay a short visit to the queen regent and the queen. Then he will proceed to Cowes, Isle of Wight. His plans contemplate a shooting trip through the highlands of Scotland.

The Queen has received a belated birthday present, in the form of an elegantly bound volume entitled "A Great Mother" and giving a lengthy and elaborately illustrated sketch of the family and life of Mme. Willard, mother of Miss Frances Willard, and who died a year ago at Evanston, Illinois. The introduction is by Lady Henry Somerset, and who is also the donor of the work to Her Majesty. It bears the imprint of the Women's Christian Temperance Publishing company, of Chicago.

Fire did some £25,000 worth of damage in the Finsbury district this evening. Twenty commercial houses and factories were destroyed. Fifty fire engines were called out, but all could not work to advantage on account of the narrowness of the streets. Had not the firemen been troubled at every turn by lack of room they could undoubtedly have saved all the buildings. A large crowd filled the streets and alleys near the burning district and many narrowly escaped serious injury. Virtually the whole section bounded by Castle, Leonard and Tabernacle streets and City road were destroyed.

Shanghai, June 22.—Japan has landed troops in Corea, thereby straining the relations between China and Japan.

T. H. Goodman, general passenger and ticket agent of the S. P. Ry., Thos. A. Graham, the company's Puget Sound representative, A. Hosmer, of Tacoma, Mrs. J. H. Hosmer and Miss Hosmer, of Sandusky, O., are guests at the Driard.

GREEN, WORLOCK & COMPANY

Meeting of the Creditors To-Day—Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

The Value of the Sums Due From Sundry Persons is Problematical.

There was a fair sized crowd at the meeting of creditors of the defunct Green, Worlock & Co. bank at the board of trade building this afternoon. Postmaster Noah Shakespeare was elected to the chair, Mr. Drury was made secretary, and it was voted to admit the reporters.

Assignee J. Stuart Yates made a short speech introducing Hon. Robert Beaven, whom he said would address the meeting and present a statement. The latter he did not sign only for the reason that he had not been with Mr. Beaven when he made up the statement.

Mr. Beaven said in opening that he feared that what he would say and what his statement would be would not be as hopeful as it might be. He then proceeded to relate his actions since he became connected with the bank. He had been anxious to give a statement at as early a date as possible and had asked for a list of the securities held against each man's indebtedness. Such had not been kept, and they had had to order one to be prepared. In pursuance with the order of the court they had settled with the retiring assignees, Messrs. Heisterman and Coltart, by crediting them on their account. The services of Mr. Worlock had also been dispensed with, and the Wells Fargo express office removed from the building. The statement was as follows:

To the Creditors of the Above Estate: In submitting this statement the undersigned points out that it is not a balance sheet in the general acceptance of the term.

That the sum opposite bills receivable exceeds the total amount of the bills in the hands of the trustees. That the amount realizeable from this source will be very much less than the sum named.

That the value of the sum mentioned as being due from sundry persons is problematical, but will certainly be very much in reduction of the figures given.

That the ledger balance of lots 166, and 166a, Victoria, was largely increased by a valuation made at the time the Garesche interest was purchased by Mrs. T. T. Green.

That the sum named in connection with the Denman Island land is a valuation; the entry being dated 12th August, 1893.

That the stocks accounted for to the trustees are insufficient to enable them to realize the amount standing against that account by a considerable balance.

[illegible] the names of Mrs. T. T. Green and Mr. F. H. Worlock is left to your judgment as to its value.

Respectfully submitted,
ROBERT BEAVEN.

The notes held by the assignees at present do not agree with the sums on the books. That would be hard to explain, but it was possible that some of the entries had not been made. It could not be said definitely what was the cause until the books were audited. They had done some hard work on the books and accounts and had hoped that this meeting would be called to declare a dividend, and was sorry that such was not the case. Going into the assets, he took up the item of the outstanding accounts, and expressed the belief that they would shrink materially in value. The bank property he said he regarded as the best in the city. He said there was a peculiarity about the Denman island property. There was an old account of A. A. Green of $32,000 and a note of hand of $8000. In August, 1893, the account had been balanced by giving him credit for the 4200 acres of land on Denman Island. Passing to the stock account, he described the gas and bank stock held, and then the Canada Western Hotel stock. The latter was now standing in the name of Thornton Fell, to whom it had been transferred on March 1, 1894, by Messrs. Worlock and Chantrell, trustees of the A. A. Green estate. The stock had first been bought by Green, Worlock & Co., and stood on the books as an asset, but they had neither the stock nor the money. He had written Mr. Fell, but had got no satisfaction. Mr. Fell had told him to take any steps he desired.

At the hour the Times went to press the meeting was still [illegible]

THE POPE'S LETTER.

It Invites the Protestants to Enter the Fold—Denounces the Free Masons.

The Radical Agitation Against the Lords—The Irish Question in Portland.

Rome, June 20.—The encyclical of the pope has been approved by a committee of the college of cardinals and will shortly be promulgated. The letter says that imitating Christ, who, on the eve of his ascension, prayed that his disciples might be united, he, the pope, at the end of his life, desires to invite all men, without distinction of race or country to enter the church. The encyclical expresses grief at the schisms and animosities which have torn countries from the bosom of the church, and the hope is expressed that divine pity and omnipotence will bring them back to the fold.

The pope then addresses the eastern churches, recalling the fact that their ancestors recognized the Roman pontiff; admits that they were well disposed toward Catholics and promises that their rights and patriarchal privileges will be maintained in the event of union with the Roman Catholic church.

His holiness then appeals to Protestants and points out that they have no fixed rule of faith nor authority, and asserting that many of them deny the divinity of Christ and the inspiration of the Scriptures and end by falling into naturalism.

The pope makes reference to the friction between church and state in Italy, by deploring the revival of acts of oppression.

His holiness condemns the Free Masons, claiming they are enemies of religious union, and especially denies their so-called audacious activity in Rome. Further, he calls upon Italy and France to shake off the despotism of Free Masonry in order that religious concord may exercise the evils of war, holding that Europe presents the appearance rather than the reality of peace, and that education is in danger, the arts and commerce is seriously menaced.

The encyclical concludes by recalling the former encyclical on the social question, declaring that liberty and the people can be made to harmonize with power and the rulers, whatever form of government exists, as the rights to command and the duty of obedience proceed from God, to whom the rulers must account for their stewardship.

EASTERN CANADA.

The Ontario Elections—Montreal Unemployed Make Demands.

Toronto, June 21.—To-day the retirement is announced of three candidates in the Ontario elections. In North Lanark, Graves, Patron of Industry, has withdrawn, leaving the contest to Preston, Conservative, and Caldwell, Liberal. In West Peterboro', Davidson, independent, withdraws, and leaves Stratton, Liberal, and Winch, Conservative, as the contestants. John Tierney has withdrawn from South Renfrew, leaving the fight between Campbell and Dowling, Liberals.

At the annual meeting of the Imperial Bank of Canada, held here yesterday, the report presented by the directors recommended the opening of a branch bank in Vancouver, B. C., or at some other provincial centre, owing to the growing importance of eastern trade relations with British Columbia.

Winnipeg, June 21.—Thomas Bennett, the veteran Dominion government immigration agent, who has spent twelve years and four months in the government service in the Northwest, seven years at Brandon and the last five years at Winnipeg as superintendent of the Dominion government immigration bureau in Winnipeg, has received notice from the government that his services are to be dispensed with on the ground of economy.

Tiverton, Ont., June 21.—S. P. Laird, a prominent citizen of Kincardine, was arrested yesterday on a charge of murdering Angus Matheson, who mysteriously disappeared last November. The arrest created great excitement all over this section.

Montreal, June 21.—A large number of unemployed men held a mass meeting at one of the public squares last evening, and some incendiary speeches were made. It was decided to present a petition to the city council asking that the employment of aliens be stopped, that water rates should be abolished and that public work should be given to the unemployed.

Kingston, June 21.—The contract for the statue of the late Sir John Macdonald, premier of Canada, to be erected in Kingston, has been let to Mr. Wade, the well known sculptor. The monument will be unveiled with military honors in October.

THE MIDSUMMER FAIR.

Closing Days of the Show—Where the Displays May Go.

San Francisco, June 21.—There are just two weeks remaining of the official life of the exposition. A rumor has been circulated to the effect that it was the intention of the exposition management to continue the exposition until at least July 24, if not until the 27th, but this rumor is without foundation. July 4 will be the official closing day of the exposition. It will be impossible to legally detain the foreign exhibits after that date, and some of them will doubtless begin to remove their exhibits immediately after the Fourth of July celebration. There will be some departments of the exposition, however, maintained a little longer. Most of the country exhibits will probably be withdrawn, though there are some which might be left until the buildings begin to be torn down. The concessionaires are not in a hurry to move, and the result will be that there will be considerable to see after July 4, although the complete exhibition cannot be expected to remain. No arrangements are being made by the management for continuing special attractions after the official closing day; but they are being importuned by the societies and organizations who want to hold demonstrations on the grounds during July. It is possible that a 25 cent admission will be charged as long as attractions remain on the grounds sufficient to warrant it. The French people have not yet abandoned their celebration of the fall of the Bastile on July 14, and there are other organizations that would like to see the fair continued at least until July 27, to make it just an even six months. The executive committee has passed a resolution to the effect that the director general has until September 30 to wind up the exposition, so there is plenty of time for the present plans to be announced if necessary.

There are two propositions before the exhibitors as to what should be done ship their goods to Tacoma for the exhibition which is to be opened there on October 1, the other growing out of the project to hold an international exhibition at the City of Mexico. As the case now stands those interested in the latter scheme are waiting, before taking any further action, to hear from Col. Green, the manager of the Mexican Bank, who left for Mexico last Monday in the interest of the project. He goes to the Mexican capital for the purpose of trying to secure such legislation from the chamber as shall result in the admission of foreign dutiable goods intended for exhibition purposes into the country without the payment of the usual import taxes. He desires also to obtain such other privileges for foreign exhibitors as may make it easier for them to bring their goods to the Mexican capital. A part also of Col. Green's scheme is to personally see what aid and encouragement President Diaz may be able to lend the enterprise and to see to what extent the Mexican railway lines may be willing to grant concessions in the matter of freight rates, etc. What is being done in favor of the Mexican project is being kept rather quiet, principally, it would appear, to lessen the chances of the friends of Tacoma trying to interfere. Henry Budey, president of the Tacoma exposition company, was in this city about five weeks ago, and while he was here did active work for his enterprise. He secured a quiet promise, given, as would appear, however, with a reservation, from some of the principal foreign exhibitors at the fair, that they would take their displays to Tacoma. The reservation referred to was to the effect that they would carry the goods to Tacoma if arrangements are not in the meantime made to take them to Mexico.

NATIONAL SANGERFEST.

The Germans of New York Preparing for the Great Festival.

New York, June 22.—The German sections of the city are in holiday dress today in honor of the delegates and visitors who are here for the great National Sangerfest which opens to-morrow in Madison Square Garden. The arrivals yesterday numbered fully one thousand. The Sangerfest will be ushered in this evening with a procession in which 20,000 Germans carrying torches will take part. They will march to the sound of vocal music. The veteran General Franz Sigel has been selected as grand marshal. The paraders this morning are providing them with Alpine hats. Between the Arion and Liederkranz Societies six horses will draw a large float representing the Apotheosis of Music and Song, and which will be illuminated by electricity. The centre illustration will be Lohengrin, Apollo and the Goddess of Liberty, surrounded by heroes and heroines from the great operas and a host of symbolic groups. A rehearsal this morning indicated that it would be the most magnificent float ever seen in this country. Governor Flower, Mayor Gilroy, and numerous representative citizens will review the procession from the balcony of Madison Square Garden.

KITSUNE-TSUKI.

A Peculiar Form of Dementia That Visits Japan.

Despite all that may be said to the contrary, the majority of the Japanese still attribute supernatural powers to the fox and raccoon-dog (tanuki), and even men of learning are not easily disabused of their inherited belief in Kitsune-tsuki, or fox-magic. There is still much to be said on the subject and it is not improbable that in some instances of the so-called Kitsune-tsuki we have to do with a phase of cerebral exaltation as yet unknown to western science. The latest case recorded must be confessed very strange, premising always that the data as given is correct. Egawa Ginzo is a native of Ojmura, near Tokyo, well known for his physical strength and skill in gambling. A week or so ago he had occasion to call on a friend at a little distance, returning home late at night. It was at once observed that his looks were wild and his conduct strange. He called for sakani fried in oil—foxes are supposed to be very fond of that diet—and repeatedly stated that he had been metamorphosed into a fox, advising the inmates of the house to treat him with honor as he had become Inari-sama. This remarkable delusion continued for several days, although the patient appeared in his usual health. Various measures were unsuccessfully exhibited and his family prayed night and morning to their gods to cure him. "We doubt his recovery being attributable to any interposition on the part of the gods," sceptically remarked the Tokyo Asahi Shimbun, "but at all events he is same now." The attack seems to have left him very weak and since his convalescence he has lost rather than regained strength. Enquiry amongst neighbors shows his case to be a mild case of temporary dementia, as contrasted with a fixed hallucination. Such things are frequent even in the western world.—Japan Mail.

TO-DAY IN THE U. S.

A Summary of the More Important Events in the Republic.

The closing sessions of the 25th annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Potomac were held to-day at London, N. H. This morning after a brief business meeting the delegates were taken by steamer to Weir, where they inspected the Veterans' Camp. With the annual banquet this evening the reunion will be at an end, and the veterans will again scatter themselves over the country.

A final appeal has been issued to six hundred representative citizens of Philadelphia asking them to contribute the sum of five dollars each to make up the balance of three thousand dollars necessary to complete the payment for the equestrian statue of Gen. George B. McClellan, and which is now ready to be mounted on its pedestal in the City Hall plaza. That city was the birth place of Gen. McClellan, and when the fund is completed the tribute to the soldier, patriot and citizen will be unveiled with imposing ceremony.

It was nearly midnight when the reception extended to Miss Frances E. Willard by the New York State Women's Christian Temperance Union in celebration of her return from her long trip abroad came to a close. Dr. McArthur's church, New York, in which it was held, was crowded to suffocation. Catholic, Protestant, and undenominational temperance societies, the Salvation Army, societies for the prevention of crime and vice, women suffrage and labor societies were represented. Mrs. Ole Bull came all the way from Boston in order to be present.

Two special trains carried the eastern delegates en route to the Republican convention at Denver. The trains were decorated with banners indicating the mission of the travellers.

Alvin Reed, secretary of the A. P. A. council at St. Louis, was waylaid by three men as he was coming home from council meeting last night and the books and records of the council were taken from him. Reed charges that members of St. Kevin's league, a Catholic organization, have made threats against members of the A. P. A. council and he believes that some of them had a hand in the attack.

Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

HUMAN FACES

What It is Popularly Supposed to Tell of Character.

Brown eyes are most kindly.

Black eyes are the most rash and impetuous.

A pouting upper lip indicates timidity.

An insignificant nose indicates an insignificant man.

Very large thick lips are a sign of sensuality.

Coarse hair always indicates coarse organization.

A projecting upper lip shows malignity and avarice.

Pointed noses generally indicate meddlesome people.

Very full cheeks indicate great digestive powers.

If the forehead be shorter than the nose the sign is stupidity.

Narrow, thin nostrils indicate small lungs and low vitality.

Blue eyes belong to peopleof an enthusiastic turn of mind.

Power of language is indicated by fulness beneath the eyes.

Oblique eyes are unfavorable; they show cunning and deceit.

Short, thick, curly hair is an indication of great natural strength.

Freckles, like red hair, are an indication of an ardent temperament.

A long forehead indicates intelligence, a short forehead activity.

Irregular teeth generally indicate a lack of culture and refinement.

Grey eyes are generally found associated with prudence and foresight.

Large, wide spreading nostrils show ample lungs and good health.

Very tightly closed lips are usually found in secretive characters.

An irregular, knotty forehead is a sure sign of a bold, original and investigating mind.

Eyes which, when viewed from the side, seem almost parallel with the nose, denote a weak mental and physical organization.

Prominent, arched eyebrows show great power of perception in regard to form and color. All great painters have such brows.

Large, clear blue eyes generally denote persons of great capacity, but sensitive, suspicious, and often unreasonably jealous.

Horizontal eyebrows, full and regular, show great understanding, deliberation and capacity for planning and execution.

The typical religious enthusiast has a thin, pale face, retreating forehead, small, keen eyes, pointed nose and retreating chin.

A perpendicular, a very high or a very short forehead is always bad; either invariably indicates lack of sympathy.

A face which does not change expression in conversation either indicates caution or stupidity.

A flat forehead or an abrupt descent at the back of the head are both unfavorable,either indicating limited understanding.

Black, sparkling eyes, with a steady, grave mouth, show taste, elegance, sound judgment, and often an ungenerous disposition.

Wide open, staring eyes, belong to people who are dull, but pretentious, who mistake impudence for wit and insolence for candor.

A person who habitually looks out of the corners of his eyes is to be avoided; his natural tendency is certainly towards deception.

When the under part of the face, from the nose downwards, is less than a third of the whole face, the indication is of stupidity.

Large noses are invariably associated with strong traits of character; whether good or bad is determined by other characteristics.

A good chin, viewed in profile, shows a marked depression above it and below the under lip, and an equally marked prominence beneath.

The eyes should be distant from each other exactly the breadth of one eye; a greater distance indicates stupidity; a less, low cunning.

Men of marked ability in any line have usually one deep, perpendicular wrinkle on the forehead, with one or two parallel to it one each side.

Whenever in laughing three parallel curves are formed in the cheeks round the corners of the mouth, the indication is of silliness and stupidity.

ALL SORTS OF WANTS.

The Gentler Sex Make Life Interesting for Private Secretary Thurber.

For a time at the beginning of the present administration Private Secretary Thurber was almost hourly visited by women carrying bedspreads and crazy quilts on which the President or Mrs. Cleveland were to write their names,says the Washington Post. At last this fad assumed such alarming proportions that a bureau for the reception of all such things was established across the hall from Mr. Thurber's office. I cannot say, but I strongly suspect that clerks were employed in this department to sign the names, and credulous women worked in floss and filoselle the names of the head official and his wife that had been written by young men and women hired to do the writing at so much per week.

Mr. Thurber is besieged constantly by women who want to see Mrs. Cleveland and the babies. "Can't you just take me into Mrs. Cleveland's room and tell her who I am? She won't care, and I won't do anything but look at her," they explain in their confidential way. When he assures them that Mrs. Cleveland is not on exhibition at that time they beg for a special dispensation for themselves, never realizing that if the demands of the people were regarded Mrs. Cleveland and the children would be on inspection drill 24 hours every day, without a moment's cessation for eating and sleeping.

Some people come to the private secretary with pathetic appeals. They want to see the President that he may have their husbands or fathers returned to the government employ, from which they have been removed. The little stories of their sorrows and trials are quite as vivacious as they are pathetic, and though, because of the impossibility of it doing them any good, they never reach the President, they are not less kindly heard by his secretary.

Sometimes women suffragists float into the White House, and up the softly carpeted stairs to Mr. Thurber. I remember one who wanted a consulate. She said in her manly voice, as if delivering a speech from the Auditorium stage:

"Mr. Secretary, it has been proved conclusively that woman is mentally man's equal. In endurance she is his equal, and in morals his superior. Mr. Secretary, I call on you to look if this is not so!"

Mr. Thurber stroked his pale drab moustache, looked very doubtful and assented.

"Mr. Secretary," in the names of the women of these United States, in the names of mothers who bore the voters, by the right of their intelligence and the nobility of their motives, I demand that they may be given a vote."

DATE OF THE EXODUS.

Information Gleaned From the Ancient Records of Egypt.

Although the monuments and papyri of Egypt give us no direct information upon the subject of the exodus, says Mr. A. L. Lewis in "Scribner's Magazine," they do indirectly indicate a certain period within which it must have taken place. Thothmes the Third, who was the most powerful king of that dynasty (the eighteenth) which finally drove the Hyksos invaders out of Egypt and reunited the whole country under one sceptre, extended his conquests as far as Mesopotamia, overrunning Palestine on his way; he left lists of the conquered nations, but does not mention the Israelites among them. Rameses the Second, of the nineteenth dynasty, the supposed oppressor, who resigned about two hundred years later, also subdued Palestine and left lists of conquered peoples, but he, again, does not mention the Israelites among them. What is, perhaps, still more important, is that, while the Israelites have left records of invasion by Mesopotamians, Moabites, Canaanites, Midianites, and Philistines, they do not mention any invasion by the Egyptians, and the conclusion is that the Israelites were not settled on the west side of Jordan till after the wars waged by Rameses the Second at the commencement of his reign, which began not earlier than 1388 B. C., or, as some now say, 1266 B. C. It has been attempted to explain this difficulty away by suggesting that Rameses the Second kept close to the sea coast on his march through Palestine and did not strike Pitoland until he was some distance to the north of the Israelites; but it is inconceivable that he should not have secured his long line of communications by subduing some of the nations that they must have been brought into contact with the Hebrews if the latter had at that time been settled in their own country. The earliest date therefore, at which the Egyptian history will permit the exodus to have taken place, even when full allowance is made for the time spent by the Jews in the wilderness and in conquering Palestine, would seem to be about 1430 B. C., while, if the shorter chronology be adopted, it could not have been much earlier than 1300 B. C.

WHEN THE SUN IS HOTTEST.

The Relation of Sun Spots to the Heat on the Earth.

The fact has long been recognized that the sun is a variable star. Of course its variations are slight, else they would have a disastrous effect upon the earth. The regularity with which the sun spots gradually increase and then decrease in size and number is, however, a sufficient indication that, as viewed from a great distance in space, and with sufficient means of observation, the sun would run through a cycle of variations in brightness once in every eleven years. It might well be supposed that if such variations take place they would be more easily perceived from the earth than from a greater distance. As a matter of fact, there are practical difficulties which render it almost impossible to get an accurate measure of the variation from year to year in the amount of the sun's radiation that falls upon the earth. It is even undecided whether the sun is hotter or colder when it is most spotted. Some observations have indicated that the sun is hottest when the observations that create sun spots are most active, while other observations have at the same time tended to show that less heat is then receivedo n the face of the earth than is received when there are practically no sun spots. Recently, however, M. Savelief has reported to the Academy of Sciences in Paris the result of experiments and calculations made by him since 1890, which strongly go to show that not only is the sun hotter when it is most spotted, but that it is precisely at then received on the face of the earth feels the greatest intensity of solar radiation. If M. Savelief's conclusion remains unshaken, it will settle a question that has long been more or less of a puzzle, and will aid in the solution of the problem of the sun's influence upon the earth's weather. In connection with this it is not uninteresting to remember that at present we are not far from a maximum period of sun spots, or in other words, according to M. Savelief, from a time when the sun's heat is most intense upon the earth.

Gloves.

Gloves were not known in England until near the close of the tenth century, and were then worn with a thumb and no fingers, like mittens. They were larger in every way than they needed to be, and wondrously embroidered and starred with jewels. No gloves were finer than those of the clergy. They were mostly of white silk or linen, cunningly embroidered and sometimes fringed with pearls. One ecclesiastic had a red silk pair, with the sacred monogram worked on the back, surrounded with a golden glory; and later on they had gloves to match their different vestments. In fact, gloves had departed from the primary idea of utility, and become a decoration. They were too magnificent for common wear, and were frequently carried in the hand or worn in the girdle. It was by the fine gloves his page had in his girdle that Coeur de Leon was betrayed on his way home from the crusade, and so fell into captivity. But already the glove was more than a mere bit of foppery. The knight's mailed glove sheltered his hand; it became a sign of power; and when a gracious lord meant to signify his intention to protect a town he sent his glove as a sure sign of his willingness. The glove, too, was a token of defiance, when one knight declared war against another; and to show his fealty to his mistress, he bound her embroidered glove to his helmet. Long gloves came in at the end of the seventeenth century. Nell Gwynne's gloves were a proverb for her beauty. All through this time gloves were pretty

—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—The general election now being near at hand, and being a candidate for re-election, I wish to place my views on some of the questions common ling your attention, as well as to intimate the line of action which I shall take and the measures which I shall, if opportunity permits, support and maintain.

The party now in power have practically held office for over eleven years. Their policy has been an indefinite one on many of the questions requiring consideration. At the last general election the Opposition advocated reform in the land laws of the province, and have been able to make some important changes.

The privilege of allowing speculators and non-residents to take up large tracts of land has been taken away and the lands are now available for actual settlers.

By the efforts of the Opposition the assessment of the wild land has been much increased; the ad valorem principle of assessment according to the land value, is now the law.

There are two essential matters yet to be carried out in connection with the encouraging of agricultural settlers. First, the surveying of available lands for such a purpose and giving the necessary information by the Lands and Works Department; second, the making of roads to such settlements, so that the farmer may be able to bring his produce to market—such a policy as this must be adopted in order to develop and encourage the farming industry of our province. By so doing we shall add much to our wealth and prosperity.

The railway policy of the Government has not been a business-like one. Even at the time of the grant given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway down to the Nakusp & Slocan deal, the interests of the province and the welfare of the people have not been well guarded. On the one hand a corporation receives a large subsidy and an immense tract of land, free from taxation for ever; on the other, a private company is subsidised by guaranteeing the bonds to the full cost of the road as well as interest on the same for twenty-five years. One cannot but come to the conclusion that a Government policy of such character is likely to bring the credit of the province into disrepute.

Monopolies of any kind are to be deplored, but monopolies backed by Government aid and support are often the most difficult to overcome. Government aid to such an extent as has been given in the instances referred to, precludes other roads from being assisted or built. As an instance of this we recognize the difficulty the British Pacific Railway will have in dealing with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and its existing rights. Thus by the action of the present Government in the past it looks as if the province were at the mercy of kingsters and monopolists who are despoiling the people of their heritage.

I am opposed to the executive using its power to make large appropriations of money by special warrant for roads, bridges, and public works, rather than submitting such to the legislature. Such a course of action leads to favoritism and corruption and is not in accord with the principles of constitutional government.

I have advocated, and will continue to do so, the reduction of taxation on improvements and the abolition of taxes on mortgages. The latter impost presses doubly hard upon the borrower, and the repeal of this law would be in the interest and for the advancement of the province.

The practice followed on the eve of a general election of promising aid to public works and institutions by members of the executive should be condemned, as it is attempting to bribe the electors with their own money. The independent electors should answer this by sending men to the Legislature who will do their utmost to remove such ministers from power.

During the past four years legislation has been brought about, chiefly by the Opposition, in reforming the School Law. The residents of the cities have now greater power over the management of their schools, and more is yet desired in this particular. I shall use my best endeavors to bring this about, so that our schools may be free of all political influences.

I have also advocated further restriction on Chinese immigration and the employment of Chinese by any company seeking charters or grants from the Legislature. I have advocated and still maintain that a clause should be inserted in all bills giving such privileges or aid to prevent the employment of this class of labor.

I also have advocated the necessity of employing residents of the province instead of non-residents or foreigners in the prosecution of all works or contracts let by the government.

It is impossible in an address of this kind to touch on all questions affecting the province. I hope, however, before long to have the opportunity of addressing the electors in public meeting, at which time I will refer to matters more extensively.

Hoping that my past record as a representative in the Local Legislature has been acceptable to you, I again seek your votes and support.

I remain, yours respectfully,

G. L. MILNE.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen—As a candidate in the coming contest for legislative honors, and particularly as a labor candidate, I take this method of expressing some of the views I hold relating to the good government of the province.

I believe that heretofore, although workingmen have assisted largely by electing representatives to the legislature and parliament, their interests have not, generally speaking, been advanced or guarded; but on the contrary laws have been enacted whereby the greater burden of taxation has been placed upon the shoulders of the workingman, and monopolies have been fostered to the detriment of their interests and the country at large. Too many professional men and capitalists have made or influenced the making of our laws, and I believe that a remedy may be applied by workingmen being represented in the councils of our land by men from their own ranks—men who are not only in sympathy with them, but who are in touch with their necessities.

I believe that every man is entitled to an equitable share of what his labor produces, also that enterprise and ability to organize and direct labor to the accomplishment of large undertakings deserves special consideration, but not to the extent that it is often accorded by the governments of the present day.

I would advocate a reduction in the hours of labor, and consider an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government work.

Also the establishment of a provincial labor bureau for the purpose of gathering reliable information on the labor situation, so that intending immigrants may be made fully acquainted with the true state of the labor market in the province.

I believe that as a class the Chinese are injurious to the province, as they undoubtedly ridicule our religion and laws; introduce loathsome diseases and demoralizing habits; they trade exclusively among themselves and send what wealth they may acquire from our province to enrich their own empire. I believe the government should make every effort to lessen the evil which is the result of the presence of Coolie labor, and in the absence of laws similar to those in force in Australia, our government should, when granting privileges to companies and corporations, insist on a clause in the charters granted prohibiting the employment of Asiatic labor by such corporations or companies.

I advocate a liberal railway policy, feeling sure that we must have these most important highways to assist in developing the many latent resources of the province; but am opposed to the granting of monopolies to the exclusion of settlers.

I also believe that all religious questions should be kept out of our schools, being confident that the numerous religious institutions are quite capable of dealing with that matter.

I will more fully express my views on these questions at public meetings to be held. Hoping you can see your way clear to give me your support at the polls, I am,

Yours respectfully,

ARTHUR R. DUTTON.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—As I am a candidate to represent you in the Provincial Legislature, I wish to give my views on some of the important questions of the day.

I hold that each man is entitled to all his labor produces; therefore, no tax should be levied on the products of labor.

The road tax, the provincial revenue tax, personal property tax, mortgage tax, taxes on improvements, and all taxes on useful trades and industries are unjust and should be abolished.

To carry out these principles, I am in favor of raising all public revenues for provincial and municipal purposes by a tax upon land values, irrespective of improvements.

This tax would lower rents, raise wages, encourage industry, equalize opportunities, and thereby benefit all.

The present electoral system gives unequal representation, and calls for immediate reform.

The monetary deposit now required from candidates for the provincial legislature should be abolished.

I am in favor of passing laws to exclude Asiatic labor from government works and prohibiting any further Asiatic immigration. When Chinese labor can be excluded from any works, by inserting clauses to that effect in charters and grants, it should be done.

I advocate a reduction in the hours of labor; an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government works.

I am in favor of establishing a Small Debts Court, to enable merchants and others to collect accounts with as little loss of time and money as possible.

I am an independent supporter of the opposition, because I feel they are inclined to go farthest in the direction of the reforms which I advocate; at the same time I wish it distinctly understood I am for measures and not for men.

As canvassing by a candidate is, in my opinion, contrary to the spirit of the ballot, it is not my intention to personally ask for votes. Trusting you may deem me a fit and proper person to represent you in the Legislature, I hereby earnestly solicit your votes and influence. Faithfully yours,

W. G. CAMERON.

DOMINION FRANCHISE.

In introducing his franchise act amendment bill Sir John Thompson gave an explanation throwing a little further light on the subject. As the franchise is the most important topic which the citizen has to consider, we need offer no excuse for reproducing the following summary of the premier's statement:

The principal features of the bill were: First. In reference to the revision of the present year to bring into force the provisions of the redistribution act of 1892. It will follow that the revision of the present year will be made on the basis of the constituencies as rearranged by the act, although the act would not come into force until the expiration of the present parliament, but it is the duty of the government to see that the constituencies shall be ready for a general election, so that while it is possible that there will be another revision next year and before a dissolution, we must keep the constituencies in a position to have the vote taken at any time. In making this revision care must be taken that the polling sub-divisions shall not run from the old to the new constituencies. Therefore if a bye-election should take place in any of these constituencies in the meantime the list of electors for the constituencies can be made from the sheets of the constituency as it now stands, that the two principles can be held view in the one revision.

A change has been proposed also in the bill that the basis of the franchise shall be adopted from the franchises of the several provinces. While he admitted that this was a new departure, it was not at all a surrender of any principle for which the government had contended in the past. The practical differences between the Dominion and the provincial franchises are now so few as to render it not worth the expense of keeping them up separately, and the adoption of a common system for local and Dominion purposes has the recommendation of economy, which was not peculiar to the system which has been in vogue for the past few years.

This new system should be available for yearly use, and while some difficulty and labor will be experienced in the preparation of the first list, the bill will so simplify the revision as to make future revisions easy. These difficulties would be partly caused because the present lists were three years old.

The great principal of the act of 1885, however, that the revision shall be made by officers under the control of parliament, has been adhered to in the bill, first as regards the franchise itself, and secondly as to the carrying out of the franchise law the principle is maintained that the elections to the Dominion house ought not to be under the control, as regards franchises, of the officers of any other than the federal authorities.

An obvious reply to Sir John Thompson was that which Mr. Laurier gave, namely, that the government is retaining the worst feature of the present system when it keeps the power of placing the revision in the hands of partizan officers. [illegible] Hon. David Mills the premier made the further statement that the provincial lists could not be regarded as conclusive, for it was proposed that persons who might have applied to the provincial officers and been rejected may apply to the Dominion officer to be put on the federal list if able to establish his qualification.

It seems that another change in the election machinery is proposed by the government, having reference to the form of ballot paper. In a measure introduced by Sir John Thompson it is provided that in future elections the paper used will be black, with oblong white spaces in which the names of the candidates will be printed, and round white spaces immediately to the right of the oblong spaces, in which the voter will place his cross. This should do away with mistakes in the marking of the ballot by the voter, and with nearly all disputes as to the validity of ballots.

THE ELECTRIC SITE.

Ald. Wilson writes strongly in support of the council's decision respecting the electric station site, yet he does not convince us that the majority of the aldermen did the best they could for the ratepayers' interest. If it be true that the preparation of the Nuttall lots will involve the expenditure of only a few hundred dollars instead of the $5000 spoken of, then indeed will the objections be materially modified, but we have reason to doubt the correctness of the estimate given by the worthy alderman. We are also inclined to suspect that the combination of lines of which he speaks will not be found practicable. Mr. Wilson says the choice was narrowed down to two lots, the one selected and one situated on Rock Bay. It is hard to understand why that should have been so. Mr. Wilson says he favored locating the station on the city property on James Bay. Other aldermen have also in private declared themselves in favor of the same site, and we cannot well understand why more was not heard of it in council. That is another mystery. There were other suitable sites mentioned which seem to have been rejected without any reason being given—to the public at all events. Under the circumstances it is hard to see why the aldermen should have felt themselves restricted to the choice of one out of two lots. The result is, as we have pointed out, that an undue proportion of the available funds is swallowed up in providing the ground for the station. We have already noticed the curious fact that the council has decided to purchase a piece of property at more than double the amount for which it is assessed, and Ald. Wilson in this connection gives a most interesting list at the end of his letter. Have these properties been assessed so much too low, or did their owners hope to bleed the city by asking so much more than their real value? If any one of the lots had been placed on the roll at the amount fixed in the tender there would most likely have been an appeal to the court of revision. We hope Mr. Northcott will take note of the figures for the next assessment, and we are certain the ratepayers will feel grateful to Ald. Wilson for taking the trouble to make out his list.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Says the Monetary Times: Lord Mountstephen, on a visit to oMntreal the other day, is reported to have expressed little confidence in the probability of Mr. Hindmarsh succeeding in carrying out his projected scheme of Atlantic steamship service. This means that the Canadian Pacific company does not look for Atlantic connections from this source. Should this unfavorable forecast be realized, further delay must take place before Canada will have a fast line of Atlantic steamers. If the question of increasing the subsidy beyond the maximum named by the government should be raised, it must for the present, if not for good, be answered in the negative. We may admit with Lord Mountstephen that a fast line of Atlantic steamers would be a great advantage for Canada, but even then a great advertisement may come too dear.

These are days of hardship among members of the commons. Mr. Corby, the representative of West Hastings, has been obliged to resign because of a violation of the independence of parliament act, and it looks as though Mr. Turcotte would have to follow his example.

The Vernon News rebukes the Vancouver World for attributing to it something it did not say in respect to Mr Vernon's chances of re-election. The reliability of the World's political intelligence is well shown by the incident.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

Meeting on Mayne Island—Notes From the Mainland.

Plumper's Pass, June 20.—A large gathering of the voters of the Islands, now in North Victoria district, took place at the Mayne Island school house, where it had been called by Mr. Booth for the 19th inst., Mr. R. G. Grey taking the chair. Mr. Booth came forward to give an account of his stewardship for the past four years. He told us about all the government had done, but took up about two-thirds of the two hours consumed by him in trying to explain the government railway policy, which was very dry to men who had come miles to hear about trails and roads which had never been made for settlers struggling on these islands. Some have paid taxes for sixteen years, and have not even a trail to this day to get away on. But not a word of comfort did these settlers get out of Mr. Booth, and after two hours of vain attempts to cover up the tracks of his boss he sat down with a feeble attempt at applause from his very few supporters here. Mr. Robertson, the opposition candidate, then took the stand, and in a clear, lucid speech showed to the electors the sham of the government's railway policy, very much to the satisfaction of those present, who [illegible] to their homes would be far ahead of any Slocan or Nakusp railway scheme to the peaks of mountains covered with snow for nine months of the year or money thrown away on government buildings at Victoria to give work to laborers from across the Sound, some of our own people being discharged to make way for them. In fact, Mr. Robertson touched on all subjects connected with our islands and our province, and after moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Booth for his adroit explanations of the government railway policy, he sat down amid such an applause that threatened the stability of our old shack of a school house.

Plumper's Pass, June 19.—Mr. Booth held a meeting of electors on Galiano Island yesterday, to give an explanation and defence of his four years' stewardship. It was entirely a railway speech from beginning to end, and showed as clearly as mud the beauties of the Davie administration, and what we may expect if they get another chance at our pockets and in regard to railways in future on the Islands. Captain Robertson, the opposition candidate, replied so effectively that it remained for one of the oppositionists to propose a vote of thanks to Mr. Booth for his visit.

GALIANO.

The News-Advertiser has been informed on reliable authority that the other night in the government committee rooms on Westminster avenue a man was approached by a myrmidon of the present unprincipled administration and asked as to whether his name was on the voters' list. On being answered in the negative the myrmidon informed the gentleman in question that if he would pledge himself to vote for the government his name could easily be put on the list. As the time for registration has now expired the above unpalatable fact has a very unpleasant significance and is hereby submitted for the consideration of the electorate in general.

It is understood, says the News-Advertiser, that affairs are still further complicated in Dewdney by the candidature of Mr. Thomas Cunningham, who has announced himself as an independent supporter of the government, in opposition to Dr. Lefevre, who is not likely to regard his interpolation with any charitable eye. Mr. Sword's assurance of a complete and crushing victory at the polls is now rendered doubly sure.

The same authority says that intelligence comes from Revelstoke to the effect that Kellie will poll about a quarter of the vote he did last election. Miners, farmers, prospectors and merchants of the north riding are working hard for the defeat of J. M. Kellie. W. Brown (with four candidates in the field) last election, was only defeated by one vote, and will go in flying this election.

On Monday evening Mr. Forster had a meeting at Port Kells. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Forster and afterwards by Mr. Punch, who was tollowed by Mr. J. T. Wilson in support of Mr. Punch. Then a show of hands was called for, when out of a meeting of about 50 or 60 electors, 9 voted for Mr. Punch and all the rest declared for Mr. Forster.

"THE MYSTERY OF THE SITE."

To the Editor: Perhaps you will allow me space to reply to the very suggestive articles in your paper yesterday, with reference to the purchase of a site for the city electric light station.

My opinion was, and still is, that the site should have been on the city property on James Bay flats. At the east end of the bridge is a rocky place sufficient to erect our buildings, close to the salt water at all tides, and moreover the ashes from the furnaces would have filled up some of the ugly mud holes over there, and thus saved the cost of their removal. Instead of putting money in land it could have been used in making a better sort of building to ornament the neighborhood. I advocated this plan in the council, and at the meeting to select a site I moved that the station be on the city property [illegible] entertained. Having shelved my James Bay scheme, the council settled down to business, and the sites were reduced to two, I was therefore compelled to decide between them, and in doing so I believe I have acted in the best interests of the city. In giving my reasons for the course I took I will deal with the two sites and speak of them as you have been pleased to designate them, viz.:

Before considering the sites it may be well to state for the information of the public that after the city had received certain offers of sites it was deemed advisable to advertise, which was done, with the result that No. 2 was tendered by the owner, instead of the agent, as had previously been done, at a reduction of $700 from the original tender.

Now I will deal with site No. 1.

This property is situated on Rock Bay mud flats, inside the bridge. Every turn of the tide leaves it a long way from salt water. In my opinion it was not suited in any way for the purpose. We could not have got a regular supply of water for the condensers, which, I am told by competent engineers, is indispensible to the efficient and economical working of the steam machinery of an electric plant.

The city tramway has had to tunnel through to the harbor for a supply of cool water for their condensers, but how could we have tunnelled through a mud flat to the cool water on the outer side of Rock Bay bridge? This was the very cheapest property offered, but when the council looked at it (they went in a body to visit the various sites) even its cheapness did not recommend it to them. Since then the price has been raised from the first tender of $3000 to $5000, and finally to $6000. Here is the mystery of the site—as a matter of curiosity I would like to see this mysterious increase explained.

Site No. 2 was considered by the council when visited as an admirable location for the works, but the place was rough, rocky and uninviting to look at at first sight, but on investigating as to the cost of clearing a space for our buildings, a competent authority states that it will not cost over $500. The rock—and it is all rock on the land side—can be removed and utilised by the city as occasion requires, seeing that all the property will not be needed for our electric buildings. At the small cost of $500 we will have a rocky foundation, so that our walls will not settle and crack and the machinery sink into soft floors, a consideration with corporation structures.

The difficulty as to cost of clearing for a foundation being satisfactorily explained by a competent authority, I claim that this property has the following advantages to recommend it:

1. It is practically in the heart of the city.

2. It faces deep, cool water on the harbor.

3. It has a 60 foot street on each side of it.

4. A city wharf can be built in front of the property 206 feet long.

5. It is the cheapest suitable property offered.

The council is considering the question of disposing of the city garbage by burning it. The city has $10,000 for cremation purposes in hand, and this money can be worked in connection with the electric light boilers and furnaces, so as to consume most of the city refuse. I am quite satisfied that a very simple plan to effect this is now being considered by the council, and in choosing the present site I now think it the best and cheapest property offered to the city.

The question of the low assessment of the property cuts no figure in the arrangement, as it is only when property is to be sold that a valuation is fixed. I am glad, however, that you have drawn attention to the subject, as it may materially assist the city assessor in his difficult duty to deal fairly by all.

That the public may judge as to the assessed value of the property being any guide to the council in selecting a site, I herewith enclose a list of some of the sites considered by the council. As the property bought by the city has 140 feet water front, with two streets, one 60 feet, the other 66 feet, on each side of the property, giving a water frontage of 266 feet, I think it will be considered by all unprejudiced persons that under the circumstances the city has fared pretty well in the selection of a suitable site.

J. KEITH WILSON,
Alderman.

ZULU HOSPITALITY.

Courtesy such as Travellers Rarely Ever Exceeded.

On leaving Lourenzo Marquez we were advised to take a short cut across country, which would bring us on the new road to Etshowe, but whether it was we mistook the path, or the natives of that part of the country think nothing of hill climbing, I don't know; the fact remains that at noon, after four hours stiff walking through grass up to our necks, and covered with burs and ticks, we found ourselves toiling painfully up an almost perpendicular hill, five or six hundred feet high, with the thermometer showing 110 degrees, and no shade anywhere, and, what was worse, no water. It is true that the view which unfolded itself to our gaze as we ascended higher, higher and higher, was beautiful beyond description, for everywere hills and valleys teemed with foliage of every hue, while far away on the horizon could be discerned the deep blue of the Indian ocean. But the beauties of nature are wasted on a man suffering from a parched mouth, and the grandest sight of all to our state of mind was when, on attaining the summit, we saw at a short distance from us a large kraal.

Our flagging spirits revived at once, for here at last we could get what we so much required—water. Tired as we were, we covered the intervening ground in time worthy of a Wanderer's sprint. Our approach had been observed from the kraal, and when we arrived there were quite a dozen natives waiting to receive us and inquire what we wanted. Our stock of Zulu was limited, but we knew enough to tell them that we were thirsty, on which they brought forth water. Then the head man, who appeared also to be a petty chief, came out of his hut, and, beckoning to us, led us into an open kraal, where he bade us sit down. He seemed pleased to see us, and all his wives and young men perched themselves around us, while he had a high bowl of Kafir beer brought out for us to partake of. He also wanted to cook an enormous peice of meat for us, but, on our dissenting, insisted on our sampling with him. After we had stayed about an hour in the kraal we rose to start off again, when whah was our surprise, as well as gratification, to find that the old fellow had instructed one of his "pickaninns" to go with us to show us the road, which was some four or five miles away. One frequently hears the Kafir decried, but I must say that even from white men one rarely experiences such true courtesy as this, and I may here mention that we have met with similar kindness from all the Zulus we have been brought into contact with.—Digger's News.

A Times man had a short talk with Mr. Fraese, who is business manager of the society. Said he: "We are looking for sufficient land for 200 families, and are endeavoring to see as much of the province as possible. We have a thriving prosperous community, but the winters are too long and severe."

NANAIMO NEWS.

Miners and Their Wages—Burglars—Mr. Lobb's Case.

Nanaimo, June 22.—A mass meeting of the miners will be held shortly to discuss the question of the five and ten per cent. reduction which they are working under at present. The matter has repeatedly been brought up at the lodge and a committee has been appointed to wait on Mr. Robins. The result of the interview will not be made known until the meeting is held. An endeavor will be made to postpone the meeting until after the election.

It was reported yesterday that the residence of Mr. F. Park had been broken into and all the spare cash taken therefrom. It is understood the police have the matter in hand.

S. W. Lobb was brought up formally last evening and a further remand of one week was granted to enable Chief McKinnon to obtain the evidence of an expert gunsmith as to the use and effect of a pistol shot. The chief has met with some difficulty in obtaining one either in Victoria or Vancouver.

W. Hughes, a miner employed at No. 5 shaft, was seriously hurt by a fall of rock yesterday and is now suffering from a broken leg and badly bruised spine.

Grand Master Gray, of the I. O. O. F. of British Columbia, instituted the third lodge of that order in this city last evening. In the institution the grand master was assisted by A. H. Blackeby, of Ontario, and members of local lodges. The following officers were duly elected and installed in "ample" form: F. G. Peto, noble grand; W. F. Norris, vice grand; A. D. Williams, permanent secretary; H. Harold, recording secretary; W. J. Spear, treasurer. A number of new members were initiated, and a large number of applications have been received which will be considered at the next meeting of this newly organized lodge.

CATHOLIC MISSION.

Great Gathering of Indians at St. Mary's Mission.

Vancouver June 22.—The annual gathering of Catholic Indians opened at the Mission to-day. Ten cars loaded with pilgrims left Vancouver yesterday at 12:15, there being in all 351 adults together with a large number of children. Father Eummelen had a very busy time selling tickets to the passengers, who pay every cent of their personal expenses. Bishop Durien, who has been engaged in this work for 43 years, went up the line with them and there are expected to be fully 2,000 Indians and some nine or ten more missionaries at the gathering at St. Mary's. Two excellent bands accompanied the pilgrims.

H. Murton and wife, of Kent, Eng., are registered at the Victoria.

H. M. Price, H. Bell-Irving and R. J. Woods came down on the Danube.

Capt. Stokes, R.N., and Mrs. Stokes returned from the Mainland last evening.

Rev. H. W. Peck and wife of New Westminster are among the guests at the Oriental.

W. F. Anderson, Rev. A. Emmenless, W. Murphy and Miss L. Morency, of Vancouver, are all at the Victoria.

DONALD DOINGS.

Swede Drowned in Kicking Horse—Plenty of Bears.

During the last two weeks thirteen skins of bears shot in the vicinity of Golden were brought in.

The C. P. R. succeeded in having a transfer late Tuesday night. As the water in the Kicking Horse is going down steadily they will soon have the track in shape for a through train.

The only fatal accident which has occurred during the washout period in this division happened on Friday of last week. A Swede fell off the work train into the Kicking Horse, and was soon lost to view. Nothing has yet been seen of the body.

A couple of temporary bridges have been erected over the Kicking Horse junior for the convenience of the public.

FROM FORT STEELE.

General Destruction of Bridges—A Terrific Thunder Storm.

All the bridges have been carried away by the high water. The bridge at Fort Steele, built in 1888, and the bridge at Canal Flat, built in 1887, also the bridges on Dutch creek and St. Mary's, being among the number, and travel is completely suspended. It will take $25,000 to replace the bridges alone. This is the highest water seen since June, 1871.

News has just come that the E. K. E. Co.'s dam has gone. This will close mining operations on their property for some time.

We were visited last evening by one of the worst thunder storms ever seen in this section for years. Trees were overturned and many small houses carried quite a distance. On the flat at Fort Steele the trees fell thick. The Indian office had a narrow escape, a large tree falling close to the building and destroying the fence completely. The storm lasted for several hours, followed by heavy rain and hail.

Wasa is completely under water, and everybody has moved from there. There is six inches of water over the floor in R. W. Jones' store.

At Wasa they are having a hard time. The dining room is flooded, and both Mr. Henson's mills are under water. He lost at Canal flat 17,000 feet of lumber and the canal is badly washed out.

About 150 Indians are at the St. Eugene's Mission and cannot move on account of the water.

Open for Business.

The Northern Pacific railroad is now open for through trains to St. Paul and all points east. First through train since the floods will start east to-day.

OUIDA HARD UP.

Poverty the Cause of the Sale of Her Property.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald has the following, dated Florence, May 18: Two last events have this season kept strangers with us longer than usual. These have been two important sales by auction. The first was the sale of Dufresne, the banker's, effects. He was the Rothschilds' correspondent and friend, and his ruin was due to no fault of his own. The second sale, and by far the most interesting to strangers, was that of "Ouida," the novelist's, furniture and personal effects. The English-speaking public have flocked to see her bed, her books, her choice knick knacks, her pictures, and even some of her papers and manuscripts. Not every one knew under what difficulties Mlle. de la Ramee had been laboring, and the forced sale of her goods created the greatest interest, and many are very sorry for her, as she is now lonely, friendless and unhappy. Her fairy surroundings, her collection of objects de vertu have been dispersed. Her dogs alone remain to her, and for these she is constantly thinking. An imperfect knowledge of Italian nature which she professes to despise, a craving for the beautiful and luxurious, or numberless flowers to give her so many inspirations, and a fatal sliding into law suits, have brought on this crisis. Her furniture, seized some years ago, when she had to leave her old Palazzo, has only now been sold by auction at the Impresa del Mediatore. After leaving her Florence Palazzo she took up her abode at the Villa del Corona, and here, last September, her mother, an aged lady, died. "Ouida," stricken to the heart, died, like the heroine of her own "Maremma," to keep her dead, but it was not allowed, and the funeral had to take place. Now everything has been sold, even the tombstones of her dead dogs, monuments of affection that cannot be bought or sold by popularity. "Ouida's" unbending pride makes any relief people can offer her a difficult task. She has many friends still, and these will feel very sorry for her when they cast a glance over the catalogue with its quaint mistakes, its strange side-lights into the authoress' life. The catalogue of the library speaks of "A Dog of Flanders," "The Cast of Marie Antoinette," by Gower; "Once a Week," "Part Yourself," Read, etc.

DISESTABLISHMENT.

There was a bit of by-play in the general assembly in Edinburgh the other day which has been noted with some political interest and some amusement. Probably, says a Scottish correspondent, not many of those who heard Dr. Story laying especial emphasis on the presence of the High Commissioner's message of the paragraph promising the maintenance of the church of Scotland guessed its peculiar significance. There is a bit of secret history underlying that paragraph which has, till now, remained unrecorded. It dates back to last year, when, for the first time, Lord Breadalbane went to Edinburgh as Her Majesty's commissioner, to speak for an avowadly disestablishment government. At that time Mr. Gladstone had pledged himself to introduce a suspensory bill. That policy was reflected in the address which Lord Breadalbane was commissioned to deliver to the general assembly. But before the time came for the high commissioner and the moderator to meet in the assembly hall face to face something happened. A copy of the address was, in accordance with practice, communicated privately to Dr. Marshall Laing. When he read it he discovered that the usual paragraph promising the maintenance of the church of Scotland had been omitted. The alarm was sounded at once. Lord Breadalbane was, I understand, invited to explain the omission. The address had been supplied to him by the Scottish office; his commission was merely to read it. He thought fit, however, to telegraph to Sir George Trevelyan. The leaders of the church were, it is stated, determined to resent a disestablishment policy being thus flaunted in their faces, and there was need for prompt action. It is not known what the nature of the representation was that Lord Breadalbane made to Sir George Trevelyan, but, at any rate, the reply received was to restore the usual paragraph to its place, and to promise the maintenance of the church. And so when the assembly met there was peace between the throne and the moderator's chair. The few persons who were in the secret looked with great curiosity this year to ascertain whether there was to be any recrudescence of that difficulty. It is understood, however, that Lord Breadalbane had taken care on this occasion to see that the address was in the proper and orthordox terms—hence the emphasis, not lacking of sardonic irony, with which Dr. Story hailed it.

EXPEDITION TO LABRADOR.

Prof. Hite Will Lead a Party Into the Unknown Interior.

The New York Sun says: Among the various expeditions this year which have for their object northern exploration, the one commanded by Professor Charles S. Hite, of the University of Pennsylvania, to Labrador, is of much interest. Dr. Dawson, in his essay upon the unexplored parts of Canada, called attention to the fact that the greatest area of America is still almost unknown and lies within the boundaries of Labrador. It is the intention of Professor Hite to take a party of ten men to the interior of this country for the purpose of exploration and scientific research. The party will be taken north in the steamer Newfoundland by Dr. F. A. Cook, of Brooklyn, who will soon be on his way to the Arctic regions. The explorers will be landed at Rigolette, Labrador, about July 4, whence a boat will take them to Goose bay, at the mouth of the Hamilton or Grand river.

Here the party will divide. Four men, including Prof. Hite, will advance up the river, carrying their boats and provisions around the numerous and dangerous rapids. The remainder of the party will remain at headquarters on Goose bay and explore the region in that neighborhood, paying special attention to collecting the flora and fauna of that country.

Excursions will be made in the Mealy Mountains for geological purposes. Mr. Low, of the Canadian Geological Survey, has found indications of vast deposits of the richest iron ore, and it is not improbable that more valuable mineral will be found or more extended research. Prof. Hite and his assistants, after reaching the Grand falls of the Grand river, which were found by Mr. Bryant to be 316 feet high, will determine their latitude and longitude, and will then push on to the interior table lands, determine their nature, elevation, geological and other features.

After this short reconnoisance the party will return to the Ninnipi river and explore that to Lake Aswauipi, and from there to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Should there be no southern outlet to this lake, the party will join the collecting division at Goose bay, where they will be picked up by Dr. Cook on his return from Greenland. Great care is being exercised in selecting material, such as camping utensils, provisions and boats for the journey. A large number of the articles used by the expedition will be of aluminum. Prof. Hite, though a young man, has made a reputation as a naturalist and collector, having a wide range of travel. He served as a naturalist on the Peary relief expedition in 1892.

POOR LO'S RIDE.

An Indian Has an Interesting Time on a Winnipeg Elevator.

Early the other morning an Indian wandered into the post office in search of some one in the lands office, which is at the top of the building. He was told that the most comfortable and easiest way of getting up to the top of the four stories was with the aid of the elevator. Lo entered the building and pulled back the wicket leading to the elevator shaft. As this means of locomotion had not started its daily work it was in the basement, the top just reaching the first floor. The noble red man therefore saw nothing but the top, and after deliberating for some time whether or not to adopt this rather dangerous manner of going skyward, he stepped into the car, and straddling the bars across the top, hung on firmly. It happened that just when he got settled firmly "Jo," the elevator conductor, entered the car from below. It is the custom to run to the top floor on the first trip every morning, and in doing so the elevator comes within a few inches of the ceiling. As it was rather dark he did not notice the individual perched above, and started on his upward journey quite unconscious of the fact that he had a passenger. Up the car went, with the red man enjoying himself very much. When about half way up Jo gave the rope another tug, which made the car ascend more rapidly. This pleased the Indian immensely, and he gave vent to the grunt of satisfaction peculiar to our aborigines. That grunt saved his life. The conductor, attracted by the noise, looked above him for the first time, and saw the smiling face of Lo beaming down upon him through the net. They were then not far from the top of the little shaft, and had they gone very much farther the consequences might have been serious. The car was hastily stopped, much to the disappointment of the passenger, who was prevailed upon to leave his precarious position.—Nor'wester.

Cable News.

London, June 20.—In the commons to day Hugh O. Arnold Forster moved to reduce the salary of the chief secretary for Ireland in order to discuss the situation of Irish affairs. He complained that the speeches of the Irish members of parliament had resulted in assaults, injury to property and the revival of boycotting. He claimed that the government ought to stop the illegal action of the board of guardians in passing resolutions against the land grabbing, which led to outrages and established a state of terrorism. L. W. Russell, in seconding Arnold Forster's motion, demanded that the government take steps to stop illegal meetings in Ireland, which, he said, fostered agrarian crime. Arnold Forster's motion was rejected by a vote of 211 to 172.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

NEW PASTOR.

Rev. Mr. Clay Inducted to the Charge of St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. W. L. Clay, the new pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was formally inducted last evening. The church had been very prettily decorated for the occasion and was well filled with members of the congregation. The members of the Presbytery present were the moderator, Rev. Mr. McRae, of Nanaimo, Revs. Dr. Campbell, A. B. Winchester, Mr. Murison and D. Macrae, clerk of Presbytery, and T. Bethune, elder. The clerk read the proclamation asking if any objections were made to the life and doctrine of Rev. Mr. Clay. There being no objections, the members of the Presbytery took their seats. After prayers, reading of the Scriptures and singing of a hymn, Rev. R. G. Murison, the youngest ordained minister within the bounds, preached the sermon. The narrative of events from the time of the resignation to the present time was read by the clerk, and Mr. Clay having answered the usual questions he was inducted by the moderator. Rev. Dr. Campbell addressed the new pastor, Rev. A. B. Winchester spoke to the congregation, and the moderator made a few general remarks. The new pastor was introduced to the congregation by Rev. Mr. Macrae, the moderator during the vacancy. At a meeting held in the vestry after service Mr. Clay took his seat as moderator of the session.

A meeting of the Presbytery was then held in the lecture room of the church to receive the report of the committee appointed to consider the petition for the formation of a congregation in James Bay district. The convener of the committee reported that he was the only member present at two o'clock, the time at which the meeting was to have been held. After a long discussion the committee was dicharged and a new committee appointed to report to the Presbytery at the next ordinary meeting to be held at Nanaimo in September. The committee consists of Moderator McRae, of Nanaimo, Mr. Rogers, A. Shaw and Rev. A. Tait.

LAKE-GILL.

J. T. Lake, Victoria, Married at Paris, Ont., to Miss M. Gill.

James T. Lake, with the C. P. N. Co., was married on the 6th at Paris, Ont., to Miss M. Gill. The Paris Review says of the wedding:

A pretty and unique wedding was celebrated at the residence of A. S. Gill, Esq., South ward, Paris, on Wednesday afternoon, June 6th, the contracting parties being Mr. James T. Lake, of Victoria, B. C., and Miss Maggie Gill, second daughter of A. S. Gill, of this town. The very interesting ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Cockburn, M.A., Presbyterian minister, in the presence of a large circle of relatives, including the parents of the bride and bridegroom, brothers, sister and other relatives. Mr. Angus Keachie filled the responsible and pleasant position of groomsman. Miss Annie Gill, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The Misses Nettie and Helen Walker were the pretty little maids of honor.

The bride was handsomely dressed in white cashmere trimmed with lace and natural flowers, the bridesmaid wore a dress of cream, the maids of honor were in blue and pink, trimmed with lace.

In order to lend enchantment to the occasion the drawing room was darkened, the lamps lighted and the happy six took up their position under a very handsome wreath of natural flowers and fruit blossoms and the emblem of good luck covered with orange blossoms, when and where the rev. gentleman pronounced the couple man and wife.

Among the many handsome and costly presents the reporter noticed several sets of solid silver spoons, silver fruit and card baskets, solid silver fruit knives, carvers, full silver tea set, silver plate in all forms of the latest and best designs, marble clock inlaid with gold, tidies, linen goods and other costly articles, the eight beautiful oil paintings presented and painted by Mrs. Hugh Wallace, of Detroit, sister of the bride, are deserving of rather more than a casual remark, and a very handsome gold brooch set with diamonds, a present from the groom to the bride.

Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wallace of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Lake of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. (Dr.) A. D. Lake of Kalamazoo, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lake, Miss Ida Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, and others.

WOMEN IN OFFICE.

Some Interesting Facts About Those Who Are Officials in France.

France is often dubbed the "China of Europe," and no doubt France is conservative in many non-political directions. But, although the champions of women's rights have failed in a few ambitious attempts, women on the other side of the channel have, on the whole, no reason to complain of their chances of obtaining suitable, more or less, official work, and a great stride forward has just been made within the postal department. For several months female postal clerks have been on trial in some of the quieter offices, and as results have been exceedingly satisfactory several of the most important Paris postal offices have now adopted female officials, and among these must be mentioned the Hotel de Ville office, while some of the busiest are thought to prove rather too great a strain upon the female constitutions, therefore, they will, at least for the present, continue to employ exclusively male clerks.

This is, in a manner, the second time the employment of women within the postal department has been sanctioned by the authorities, for as early as the seventeenth Vendemiaire, in the year 12, the appointment of women as directresses of postoffices in the provinces was approved of by the postoffice department of that day. But the subsequent convulsions of Paris did not allow of the footsteps of the republic, and in the year 1870 the number of women holding public appointments under the state did not exceed 5000 or 6000. The present republic has, however, done much to open out new fields of employment for women, and the number of women who now fill public offices in France is exceedingly large and daily increasing. The principal departments where female clerks are employed are in France, as elsewhere, the post, telegraph, telephones, railways, the government banks and the central administration.

There are at present 5353 women employed at the provincial postoffices; 1060 female telegraph clerks; in 69 towns the telephone stations are under the management of women, affording employment for 745 women. The national savings banks employ 425 women, etc. The railways have, however, been the best friends of the women. It was the Dombes company which made the experiment with employing female clerks at the offices or as station mistresses at the small stations, but gradually nearly all the French railway companies have followed the example. Women are employed at the ticket offices as watchers, etc. The East Company employs 3082 women; North Company, 2790; the Paris-Lyons Mediterranean, 5158; the Orleans company, 4358—altogether some 24,000 women—in which number the thousands and thousands of female gatekeepers are not included. In the whole of Europe it is calculated that over 600,000 women hold public appointments.—London Queen.

AN OUTRAGED WIFE.

A New Trick Worked on the Soft-Hearted to Get Money.

The express train from St. Paul to Duluth made a short stop at Pine City, after the train was already in motion a young woman was seen to run along the platform and jump into a car in which were only a few gentlemen. Throwing herself into a corner seat she began to cry hysterically, and the sympathetic men, feeling compassion for the poor creature, naturally offered their assistance and inquired the cause of her violent emotions. She hesitated in her reply, but at last, amid a goodly flow of tears, related that against her will she had been forced by her parents to marry a man whom she did not and could not love. A few days previously she had arrived at Pine City, his home, and he at once began to illtreat her, sold her jewelry, took her money, and she was now forced to protect herself, to leave the town and return to her parents, as she could not live with him any longer. During he recital she showed several marks and scars on her neck and on her arms—not neglecting to expose a portion of her beautiful form, while remaining within the limits of propriety—inflicted by the cruelty of her husband. Although he had watched her carefully she had managed to escape from him and to jump into the moving train. Her wish was to return to her parents, who lived in Jefferson, Neb., but this she could not do, as her husband had taken all her money, and at that moment she did not have a cent in her pocket. One word led to another; she removed her jewelry, consisting of bracelets, earrings and watch, gave her name and her parents' address, and one of the gentlemen was kind enough to advance her $100. At the next station, amid assurances of everlasting gratitude and the most charming "Oh, I thank you, sir," she left the car to take another train southbound. The gentleman who gave her the money, it is needless to say, was sold, the jewelry was worthless trash, and the story of the cruel husband was a trick theatrically presented by an experienced thief. —Home and Country.

Short Talk on Advertising.

A great many merchants cut down their advertising in the summer. Some even stop it altogether.

In every-day life, says the Portland Express, when a thing is hard to do, it only calls forth greater effort. If the laborer can't move the stone he gets a crowbar and a block of wood.

He makes a lever, and the stone moves. If the crowing isn't long enough, he gets something longer. He doesn't give up, because the stone has got to be moved.

The same way in business. Trade is a stone. The funny thing is that the lighter it gets the harder it is to move. It can be moved though. You may have to lengthen the lever. Certainly you ought not to shorten it.

The best business lever is advertising, newspaper advertising is the longest lever and the quickest to move trade.

Dull time are the times to put forth the greatest effort and the most money. People don't usually ask for what they have already. Advertising is merely asking for trade.

When the store is full every day, cut down your space. Don't expect that you will get a big trade in dull times, but keep count and you will find that the advertising was profitable.

Profitable at the time and enormously Profitable right at the time and enormously profitable after a while. The very fact that only a few merchants are wise enough to advertise in dull seasons, makes it all the more profitable for those who do. You are those when others are not. It gives you greater prominence. It will make your advertising in busy times much more effective.

Common sense has a great deal to do with advertising. Think about it from a common-sense standpoint. It may take some "nerve" to pay out money for newspaper space when the business isn't paying expenses but it will pay.

More than half the business houses in the country would be ahead if they could shut up for three months in the summer. But they don't do it. Why? Simply because they can't afford to. People would forget them.

Same way with advertising. Think of it.

AN HONEST MAN TURNS UP.

He Wants to Pay a Railroad Fare Overlooked a Year Ago.

A man whose conscience revolts at the idea of cheating a railway company out of 25 cents has been found and is [illegible] by H. F. Nadeau, the ticket agent at the Northern Pacific depot, who discovered him. This man whom Diogenes sought in vain gave his name as Henry Johnson, and calling on Mr. Nadeau a few days ago at the depot he said:

"What is the name of that station between Seattle and Black River?"

"There used to be a station at Van Asselt, but trains do not stop there any more," answered Mr. Nadeau.

"Well, I rode from there to Black River on July 26th, last year, and did not pay my fare. How much was it?" asked the stranger in his Swedish accent of the astonished ticket agent.

"Twenty-five cents," the latter answered, wondering what was coming next.

"Well, I want to pay it now," said the man, and threw down a quarter.

As there was no provision in the railway accounts for a conscience fund, the amount of money coming into it not being sufficient to warrant the trouble, Mr. Nadeau concluded that that quarter was not worth the labor he would have to expend in finding out to what account he should rebill it, and he said to the conscience-stricken man:

"Oh, take that and buy beer with it."

"No, I never drink; I owe and want to pay it. If you won't take it I'll pay it to the conductor."

"The conductor is dead," said the agent, thus cruelly shutting off another way of relief to the burdened conscience, the conductor in question being George P. Long, who died several months ago.

Mr. Johnson persisted in arguing the matter, but vainly tried to persuade Mr. Nadeau to take the quarter, only departing when the latter closed the office for the night.—Post-Intelligencer.

THEIR RAPHAELS ARE FRAUDS.

Doubts Cast on the Genuineness of South Kensington Cartoons.

The artists and art lovers of England are alarmed and indignant over a report which comes from Rome that the Raphael cartoons now in the South Kensington museum are not genuine works of the old master, but copies. Experts declare that the originals of seven of them are in Russia, where they have seen them. The Englishmen are not disposed to admit the truth of the assertion, and to settle the question the Russian pictures are to be brought to Rome and compared with the tapestries in the vatican. These pictures were ordered by Pope Leo X., who desired they should be designs for a set of tapestries which were intended for the lower part of the walls of the Sistine chapel. The fact that such a patron of the arts as Leo X. gave such a commission and such an artist as Raphael accepted it proves that there was no humiliation in the work, as some have attempted to show. Cosimo Tura, the head of the early school of Ferrara, Andrea Mofitegna and the great Leonardo Da Vinci himself, did not disdain to design cartoons for weavers of tapestry. The first series designed by Raphael, and destined for the Sistine chapel, represented scenes from the Acts of the Apostles. These are the works now in question between England and Russia. The wall spaces in the Sistine, which should be covered with these tapestries, are instead painted so as to represent heavy curtains of cloth shot with gold, bearing the arms and monograms of Sixtus IV., from whom the chapel derives its name.

Happy days and restful nights result from using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It so regulates all the bodily functions and strengthens the nervous system that worry and fatigue are comparatively unknown and life is truly enjoyed. It is certainly a most wonderful medicine.

THE LUCK OF BASEBALL.

Victoria Club Lost a Great Chance to Lower the Colors of the Stanford's.

Interesting Contest Won by the Visitors by a Close Score —Other Sports.

The Victoria baseball players threw away a glorious chance yesterday afternoon to lower the colors of the great Stanford nine. For the first two innings they played farmer baseball, and then settled down to a shut out game. They played a great uphill contest and the finish was fast. Even at the last if there had been a little discretion in base running the score would have been tied and perhaps there might have been a different result. However, blotting out these first two innings it was a great game for the spectators, and considering the close score and the excellent showing made everybody, including the home team, was satisfied. Lenfesty pitched a great game and had he been supported in the field it is hard to say where there could have been a run earned against him. Smith for a novice is all right behind the bat, and is a coming player. Partridge played a sure game at first, as did Wrigglesworth at third. Franklyn, Widdowson and Gowen, after they shook off the nervousness off, showed what they could do. Schultz and Gouge hit the ball well and opportunely and Van Sly hitted well. The team, just as they are, with a lot of good work to-gether, will be able to hold their own in the Northwest. The visitors clearly showed the advantage of good baseball schooling and team practice. Manager Cox was rather daring in putting a pitcher, Wheldon, behind the plate to receive McLaine's delivery. Davey the regular backstop, sat on the bench with a sore thumb, but Wheldon did very well. The Times was not amiss when it called third baseman Dyer a wonder. He can earn a living playing the game on any team in the country. Walton, the first baseman, is somewhat of a ball player himself. McLaine, the pitcher, led the fielding, getting eight assists. He fields the position well. The bright particular play of the day on their side was an assist by Campbell from left field to the home plate, putting out the last man in the game. Umpire Edwards had a whole lot of close decisions to make, and with possibly one or two exceptions did his work well. He "fielded" his difficult position with a kick, however. Manager Schultz is entitled to the highest praise for the arrangements of the day. A reception committee, made up of Geo. Powell, Thomas Burnes, George Morphy, Frank McFarlane, and William Duck, seated the people and acted as Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney's escort when that gentleman went on the field to start the game. His honor shook hands with Capt. Sheehan and made a nice little speech. The clubs gave their yells, the Victorias took the field and his honor threw a nice clean white ball up to the pitcher, and the game was started. At the close the Victoria players led in a cheer that must have surprised the visitors for its hearty good will. Not an incident occurred during the day to mar its pleasure. The score was as follows:

THE RING.

FITZSIMMONS TALKS A LITTLE.

New York, June 22.—Bob Fitzsimmons, looking none the worse for his tilt with Joe Choynski in Boston on Monday night, arrived in town yesterday. With the exception of a black eye, Fitz's face does not show any signs of the recent encounter. The middleweight champion is now planning to get on a match with Jim Corbett. "I am not inclined to be boastful," said Fitzsimmons to a reporter, "but I am confident that I can whip Corbett in a finish fight. Of course by signifying my willingness to meet Corbett I don't wish the impression to get abroad that I am anxious to give Corbett the chance of flunking out of a match with Peter Jackson. I would like to see the two come together, for in my opinion Jackson will win. Take it in a business like sense, however, I would like to have the chance of meeting Corbett first. Of my recent fight with Choynski I can only say I went in to win, and that I succeeded the public already know. I was knocked down, but that does not win a fight. Choynski is a tolerably good man too, but he is not in my class. I am willing to meet Choynski again if the club hangs up a good sized purse. But I am afraid the public would not patronize such a contest, as they would not care to see a defeated man fight his conqueror again. I don't believe that Choynski was in bad shape on Monday night. He certainly could not have used the punishment I gave him if he had been."

A HORSE SUICIDES.

A Faithful Old Sorrel Holds His Head Under Water Until Dead.

Passaic, N. J., June 22.—Old Barney, a faithful sorrel horse owend by the Dundee Power and Land company, committed suicide this afternoon. The horse was driven to Passaic from Dundee by James Wynne. On alighting from the carriage Wynne tied Barney under a shed 200 feet from the canal. Barney broke loose, walked through a potato field over a briar patch and down a steep bank and plunged in the canal. As soon as he got into the water he plunged his head under the water and kept it there. Wynne missed Barney a few minutes later and tracked him to the canal, reaching the water in time to see Barney stagger and topple over. Wynne caught hold of the reins and tried to pull the horse out of the water, but could not. He afterwards got assistance and pulled the body of Old Barney out of the water. Wynne said, in trying to explain Barney's conduct: "It appears to me to be a deliberate suicide, and the hot weather is the only cause I can assign for it."

RULES THE ROOST.

The Woman Mayor of a New Zealand Town and Unruly Councillors.

Mrs. Yates, the mayor of Onehunga, in New Zealand, is troubled apparently, with one or two unruly councillors, and has some difficulty in keeping her team in order. At a recent meeting reported in the New Zealand Herald, the proceedings were described as "lively." The question under discussion was an outbreak of typhoid fever in the borough. At an early stage in the discussion Mr. Tapp expressed the opinion that certain correspondence had been kept back.

The mayor, with much firmness, said: "I insist upon an apology from you, Mr. Tapp, for making that remark, and shall adopt a similar course with any other councillor so expressing himself."

Mr. Tapp denied accusing her worship of suppressing correspondence. He must have been misunderstood.

The Mayor—I won't allow any councillor to insinuate that I have kept back correspondence.

Mr. Tapp—You quite misunderstand me, Mrs. Mayor.

Afterward Mr. Tapp insisted upon speaking when he was ruled out of order. The mayor said:

"I am the person to dictate, not you."

Mr. Tapp—Oh, no, you're not.

The mayor—Don't answer me back.

Mr. Jackson, having moved a resolution, entered into a lengthy dessertation on sanitary matters in general. As Mrs. Yates has made a regulation that the mover of a resolution should be allowed only five minutes to introduce it, she drew attention to the fact that Mr. Jackson had spoken seven minutes. Mr. Jackson laughed and said the council had no power to make such an absurd regulation, and in any case it did not apply to anyone [illegible] right of saying what he had to say, and did not intend being talked down.

The mayor—Mr. Jackson, are you defying my ruling.

Mr. Jackson—Yes, in this matter.

The mayor—Then I order you down.

Mr. Jackson said he would not be gagged.

The mayor—Then I rule you out of order and if you don't obey, we might as well dissolve.

Mr. Jackson—Well, I shall certainly not obey you. You yourself have wasted more than seven minutes, and must not interrupt me.

The mayor—You have rambled from the subject.

Mr. Jackson—If I did you forced me.

At this point the bickering ceased and the business proceeded in quietness.

Miscellany.

A candiate for office was so sorely beset by undesirable visitors that after much patient suffering he gave orders to the servants to deny admittance to all callers save his personal friends. How well he order was carried out he soon had evidence. The bell rang, and the maid, upon opening the front door, was confronted by a body of "delegates" from a writing constituency, when the candidate overheard the following colloquy:

"Is Mr. C. at home?" said the leader.

"He is not," returned the maid.

"When will he be in?"

"Are ye personal friends of his?"

"Well—so," said the leader; "but—"

"Then he's never comin' back." And the door was closed with a bang.—From the Editor's Drawer in Harper's Magazine for June.

CANADIAN NEWS.

The News of Eastern Canada in Short Paragraphs.

Almonte has voted $40,000 for stock in the Carp, Almonte and Lanark railway.

"It is expected," says the St. Catharines Journal, "that the pear crop in this vicinity will turf out very large this year."

Some time ago the woollen mill of Jas. Sheene at Pennfield, N. B., was burned. It is now stated that Mr. Sheene contemplates building on the old site.

A London paper reports the sale of two barrels of "Canadian Spy" apples in Chicago at $25 per barrel. It is further stated that the retail dealer who bought one of the barrels is selling the fruit at $2 per dozen.

As a result of the spring freshet of oatmeal meals have advanced 5 cents a barrel all round, and are selling in broken lots at $4.30 per barrel.

The Canadian sugar refineries are getting large quantities of stock, the St. Lawrence receiving 19,030 bags of beet stock, and the Canada 4,000 tons of Cuban sugar, the largest cargo so far this spring.

A tax of $100 is proposed to be levied on Chinese laundries in Montreal. It is also said that they consume more water than is paid for.

The O'Reilly block in Aylmer, Que., consisting of three stores 30 by 85 feet and a residence, has been bought by an Ontario firm, to be used, it is said, as a Patron wholesale depot for the Ottawa valley.

The Toronto city treasurer's office was entered by burglars who broke open the cash drawers. The total amount of cash taken was one dollar and seven cents.

The Eastern Association of Baptist churches in annual convention, elected Rev. W. T. Graham, Montreal, as moderator.

George Turner, a boy aged 9 years, who was living with his parents at 33 Tisdale street, Hamilton, was discovered to be suffering from small pox. The case is of a mild type.

The Hamilton street railway have decided to run Sunday street cars. A boat will also be run to the Beach on Sundays.

Wandering Bear, a Blackfoot Indian from the Macleod district, has arrived at Ottawa with twenty-eight Indian ponies for the Ottawa park [illegible].

Fire broke out under the lath mill of J. & T. Conlon's mills at Picnic Island, near Little Current, and in less than five minutes the whole mill was in flames. A number of hands had to jump from the first floor to save their lives, so quickly did the fire spread. One man named Bowers was badly burned around the neck and face. The mill is one of the largest on Georgian Bay and employed 100 to 125 hands. The loss foots up to about $50,000 with insurance of about $20,000.

The handsome music hall presented to the city of Toronto by H. A. Massey, the wealthy manufacturer, was opened the other night with the first of a series of festival concerts. The great building was crowded with a fashionable audience. Lord Aberdeen and party occupied a private box. Mr. Massey himself was not well enough to be present, but an address from him was read and a deed of the property handed over to Mayor Kennedy. The hall cost over $150,000 and has a seating capacity of four thousand.

Toronto is to build a tunnel under the bay, to bring water from the lake, as the present system of drawing it in a conduit laid at the bottom is a source of continual trouble owing to breaks and leakages letting in the diluted sewerage of that fine sheet of water. Were this built, and a grand trunk sewer to carry all the sewerage of the city out of reach of the intake for the water supply, Toronto would be most happily fixed in its sanitary arrangements. The tunnel would cost a million dollars, though estimated at less.

Hon. S. H. Blake made a vigorous speech in favor of the Mowat candidates in Toronto. Referring to the P. P. A., he said the reason Mowat gets the support of the people is that he is fair to all. The rudiments of common charity are the rudiments of common sense. Shame upon the bastard Protestant who would proscribe his Catholic brother and deprive him of the right of citizenship. Shame upon those who blatantly pretend they themselves represent, yet are so false to the teachings of the divine master. Do they think the Catholics of this country will submit to that? I would not care to own a Catholic as my friend if he were so false to his manhood. But I did not learn my Protestantism from the P. P. A. faction. I learnt it from those who taught me what our glorious religion and our glorious heritages are. Protestant principle which desires fair play to everyone in the world and not dare deprive him of any portion of his citizenship because he was pleased to worship his God in his own way.

Frank J. Keller, formerly of Montreal, a lawyer, died in New York. While he attained the highest success as a criminal lawyer, and had one of the largest practices of any young man who ever entered the legal profession, some years ago, however, he absconded to New York to escape a charge of embezzlement preferred by the Hedben estate.

Take Away

a stone from a foundation and it is weakened; a picket from a fence gives it an ill appearance, the vacancy destroys its symmetry, and the void is at once apparent. A hole the size of a pin's head in a kitchen utensil detracts from its usefulness, and a spoke from the wheel of a vehicle at once causes comment. It is the same with the mouth of a human being. An absent tooth gives the mouth the appearance of an "aching void." The symmetry is forever gone, the features are distorted, and already the remaining teeth show signs of decay. In time all teeth "go by the board," and then succeeds a row of blackened and disfigured stumps. Crown and bridge work is a specialty in dental science, and of which Dr. H. B. Findley is a master. By these processes the mouth is made whole, decay of teeth arrested and the features restored to their original appearance.

Priestley's Dress Materials

Every lady should be interested in the fact that the Priestley's Dress Materials are to be had from the better class of dealers throughout Canada. For beauty, texture and enduring quality, they are unequalled. Manufactured as they are in pure wool, and in silk and wool interwoven, these goods have a soft richness which is a perfect delight to a lady of taste.

Priestley's goods are mostly in black, and in black and white.

A gown in Priestley's fabrics retains its style and beauty as long as there is anything of it left, hence they are the most economical for all classes.

N.B. TRADE MARK THE VARNISHED BOARD ON WHICH THE GOODS ARE WRAPPED.

Co-Operation.

The British Columbia Industrial Co-Operative Association is founded on the basis of productive and distributive co-operation. It is a combination of laborers of various trades and professions, for their physical, intellectual, social and moral improvement, both directly and indirectly. By combining the surplus earnings of its members in one common fund, the Association will provide them with permanent employment at good wages, with living at actual cost.

All persons wishing to join can obtain further particulars by addressing
